55 ★ Hakocho [Paulownia craftwork] Map E

Regardless of whether you prefer Edo-style or Kyoto-style, our products have long been popular as decorative items and furniture. Kimekomi technique in which pure silk fabric or Saga Brocade is used with Paulownia wood, is a magnificent decorative technique where the Paulownia wood and the warmth of the fabric blend perfectly well with each other. This completely original technique of Paulownia craftwork is exclusive to Hakocho. Hakocho brings the essence and sentiment of Edo to your home.

AOYAMA DARUMA uses materials that deepen in character over time, such as indigo-dyed and persimmon-tanned clothing, silver and brass accessories, and leather goods. Our concept revolves around "one-of-a-kind" and "lifetime" pieces. We are gradually developing items that can be enjoyed for their aging process while making use of traditional techniques, unaffected by fleeting trends. In this era of mass consumption, we aspire to convey the Japanese aesthetic of "valuing things" to the world.
